December 1st - Give a shout out to your favorite bartender, or just simply let your followers know, it's national bartender day - Acknowledge the hard work of a bartender - A bartender's job is not only serving drinks, they lend a sympathetic ear, they usually have a good joke, or sometimes some solid advice. They always look out for their customers and their safety. It takes someone special and someone that is passionate about their craft. Lets Celebrate them!

December 2nd - Here is your Caption - Staging your home during the holidays can help create a warm and inviting atmosphere that appeals to potential buyers. Here are some staging tips to make your home more appealing during this festive season. Remember that less is often more when it comes to holiday staging. Your goal is to create a festive and welcoming atmosphere that allows potential buyers to see the full potential of your home without overwhelming them with personal or excessive decorations. (This template is 3 images so be sure to upload all three)

December 4th - National Cookie Day (There is a 4 part post in the templates) or you can design your own post or maybe promote a local cookie business. Caption - Cookies are an integral part of every occasion irrespective of whether it is someone's birthday, wedding, graduation, party, picnic, or something else. This comfort food comes in many different shapes, sizes, colors, and exciting flavors.

December 8th - National Brownie Day (See 3 templates to post) - Caption - we celebrate the perfect cross between a cake and a cookie, it is National Brownie Day! No one can resist the gooey decadence of a Brownie, whether it is a chocolate one or a blondie.

December 13th - Day of the Horse - See Template - Caption - This day is not just for Equestrians and horse enthusiasts, it aims to highlight all the ways in which horses have historically contributed to society, economically and culturally, in the United States. Horses have been closely linked to American history since the country was founded, and have played a crucial role in the advancement of society, from providing transport, support in battle and hunting, clearing fields and forests to grow crops, and helping with shepherding livestock in ranches.

December 15th - See post - Caption - Swirled with frosting, covered in sprinkles, dipped in ganache, or drizzled with chocolate, cupcakes are a one-of-a-kind dessert that are whimsically versatile for any occasion. They have evolved far and wide from just chocolate and vanilla to fulfill almost all of our dessert dreams and fantasies. Luckily, today is National Cupcake Day to commemorate these compact yet delectable sweets. Indulge all you want in your favorite cupcake treats today—you'll probably want seconds. Actually, make that thirds.
